

Constitution Day and the Farm Bill

Her sheet is titled Current Events Student Questions. Six short questions plus three quiz questions on the back. The blue block is what goes on his paper. Two of the questions ask for facts he cares about, so those are marked as his to choose.

1 What is the Farm Bill?

FARM BILL: What is the Farm Bill?

WRITE THIS · 31 WORDS

The Farm Bill is a big federal law, renewed about every five years, that sets the country's farm and food policy. It covers farm support, crop insurance, conservation and food assistance.

BACKGROUND, FOR YOU

It is one law bundling many programs together, which is why it takes so long to pass. Mrs. Finch's point is that Constitution Day connects to agriculture because Congress is where farm policy actually gets made.

Her email says a reading was attached and a paper copy handed out in class. That reading is not in his Drive, so if it gave particular numbers, use those instead.

2 Why is it important?

FARM BILL: Why is it important?

WRITE THIS · 25 WORDS

It decides how food gets grown and paid for. It protects farmers from bad weather and price crashes, funds conservation, and pays for food assistance.

BACKGROUND, FOR YOU

The honest short version: it touches everyone who eats, not only people who farm.

3 Three key facts about the Farm Bill

What are 3 key facts about the Farm Bill that you care about?

WRITE THIS · 43 WORDS

1. It is renewed about every five years, so it gets argued over regularly.
2. Most of its money goes to food assistance, not to farm payments.
3. It funds crop insurance, which is what keeps a farm going after a bad season.

The question says "that you care about," so swap any of these three for something that actually interests him. Any three real facts are correct here.

4 What is an Ag Teacher?

TEACH AG DAY: What is an Ag Teacher? (AKA Agriscience Teacher)

WRITE THIS · 22 WORDS

An agriscience teacher teaches AFNR: Agriscience, Food and Natural Resources. They teach class, advise the FFA chapter, and supervise students' SAE projects.

BACKGROUND, FOR YOU

AFNR, FFA and SAE are straight out of her own Week 2 vocabulary notes, so using her words here is worth more than a general answer. It also describes her own job.

5 Why is it important?

TEACH AG DAY: Why is it important?

WRITE THIS · 27 WORDS

Only 2% of people in the US are farmers, but 21% have AFNR related jobs and 100% are consumers. Ag teachers train the people who feed everyone.

BACKGROUND, FOR YOU

Those three figures are from her own Week 2 statistics, which she quizzes. Using them here answers this question and revises for her quiz at the same time.

6 Three key facts about Teaching Ag

What are 3 key facts about Teaching Ag that you care about?

WRITE THIS · 39 WORDS

1. An ag teacher runs three things at once: classroom, FFA and SAE projects.
2. FFA began in 1928 as Future Farmers of America and now covers all of AFNR.
3. On average one US farmer feeds 155 people.

Same as question 3: these are his to choose. All three above come from her notes, so they are safe picks, but a different one he actually finds interesting is fine.

7 The back: three quiz questions and their answers

Tomorrow you have a Quiz. On the back of this sheet: write 3 questions you think will be on Friday's Quiz AND write the correct answers.

WRITE THIS · 40 WORDS

1. What are the seven categories of classification, in order?
Kingdom, Phylum, Class, Order, Family, Genus, Species.
2. What does Bovine mean? Cattle, beef and dairy.
3. What two parts make up a scientific name? The genus and the species.

BACKGROUND, FOR YOU

Sep 17 was a Thursday, so "Friday's Quiz" is F-QUIZ: Classification & Category Names, due Sep 18. These three are drawn from her own classification notes and her "1 category names words" sheet, so they are the real content, not guesses at it.

That quiz is one of the three Illuminate assessments whose window has closed, so he cannot sit it until Mrs. Finch reopens it. Answering this question still earns the marks on this sheet, and it revises the exact material.

Questions transcribed from Mrs. Finch's own student sheet in Alex's Drive. The Teach Ag answers and the three quiz questions come from her Week 2 vocabulary notes, her classification notes and her category names sheet. The Farm Bill answers are general: the reading she attached is not in his Drive, so if it gave particular figures, use those instead.
